ABOARD NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC ORION

alumni.princeton.edu/journeys
DEAR PRINCETONIAN,

Created by ancient volcanic fires and sculpted by waves and wind over countless millennia, the enchanting isles of Tahiti, Bora Bora and Rangiroa have beckoned travelers to their coasts for centuries. Join your fellow Princetonians on a get-away cruise in the South Pacific, June 7-16, 2018, to discover an earthly paradise where forest-clad mountains, fragrant with the scent of white-petaled tiare blossoms, rise dramatically from the crystal waters of tropical lagoons and where the ancient customs and traditional hospitality of the islanders survive to the present day.

Cruise from island to island aboard the modern National Geographic Orion and enjoy an aquatic program which offers a myriad of opportunities to swim, snorkel, dive, kayak, and stand-up paddleboard in turquoise coves and vibrant reefs bursting with kaleidoscopic marine life. An expert Lindblad expedition team will add incomparable dimensions to your experience. Naturalists will share their knowledge of the intriguing Polynesian ecosystem. Divemasters and an undersea specialist will maximize your time exploring the coral reefs and a veteran National Geographic photographer will offer advice—for both novice and more advanced photographers—honed from years on assignment for NG.

The camaraderie of fellow alumni, the convenience of unpacking only once, and the exceptional value of this program combine with a magical destination to create one of the year’s most enticing journeys. If Tahiti and French Polynesia are on your “must see” list, there is no better time than now to make it happen. Princeton travelers will share this departure with like-minded travelers from Lindblad/National Geographic, so reserve your space soon by contacting the Princeton Journeys team at (609) 258-8686 or journeys@princeton.edu.

With kind regards,

Margaret M. Miller ’80
Deputy Vice President for Alumni Affairs, Princeton University

Assistant Director for Princeton Journeys, Princeton University

Gabriel Vecchi, Professor of Geosciences and the Princeton Environmental Institute

Gabriel Vecchi is a Professor at the Princeton University Department of Geosciences and at the Princeton Environmental Institute. Prior to coming to Princeton University in 2017, he was a Research Oceanographer and the Head of the Climate Variations and Predictability Group at the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory (GFDL) in Princeton, New Jersey, where he was since 2003. The focus of his research is the interactions between the atmosphere and oceans on timescales from weeks to centuries, including the El Niño-Southern Oscillation phenomenon, tropical cyclones and the Asian-Australian monsoon. Gabriel’s recent efforts concentrate on predicting short- and long-term changes to tropical circulation and variability, including characterizing the impact of climate change on tropical cyclones and hurricanes, and global patterns of rainfall and drought.

SNORKELING IN PARADISE

This expedition offers intact, vibrantly healthy marine habitats not found in this pristine state anywhere else on Earth. Although donning dive gear takes you deeper, snorkelers can get out there and experience every wonder and thrill. National Geographic Orion is completely outfitted with gear from high tech masks, snorkels, and fins to wetsuits, plus full scuba gear for 24 certified divers.

HIDDEN POLYNESIA: REVEALING A LIVING & ANCIENT CULTURE

Palm-lined turquoise lagoons. Soaring, emerald-encrusted mountain peaks. Pristine reefs bursting with a kaleidoscope of marine life. These are the idyllic notions that lure visitors to French Polynesia, but beneath the sublime exterior there beats a spiritual pulse, linking the island people of today with their ancestors of yore. Nowhere is this ancient rhythm more palpable than on Raiatea, the “Sacred Island” that is home to one of Polynesia’s most important cultural sites, Marae Taputapuatea (recently named a UNESCO World Heritage site). Built as a monument to Oro, the god of war, this open-air temple reigned as the center of spiritual power over 3,000 years ago.

You’ll venture on to neighboring Huahine, once the home of Tahitian royalty, where you’ll find the highest density of well-preserved ancient marae along with archaeological artifacts dating from 700 A.D. The last half of the voyage turns your attention back to the region’s acclaimed natural wonders—snorkeling Fakarava, a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve; drifting in Rangiroa’s lagoon, the second largest in the world, or exploring enchanting grottos on Makatea.
THE PERFECT PLATFORM TO EXPLORE LAND & SEA

Modern and elegant with a gracious, sunlit ambiance, the 102-guest National Geographic Orion will be your base for this unforgettable adventure to the other side of the world. Her generous decks and expansive windowed interiors take full advantage of the sun, ocean breezes, and jaw-dropping scenery.

Orion’s unique adaptation for ocean exploration makes her ideal for discovering the region’s spectacular undersea. The ship is equipped with scuba gear for up to 24 divers and complete snorkeling gear for all 102 guests aboard. A marina platform makes loading divers, snorkelers, and gear into Zodiacs for forays exceptionally efficient and safe. For those who prefer to stay dry, Orion is equipped with a glass-bottom Zodiac that offers remarkably clear observations of the undersea. She is the only expedition ship traveling in the region with an undersea specialist, two divemasters, and undersea video technology, including an ROV (Remotely Operated Vehicle) capable of exploring depths up to 1,000 feet to provide video to enjoy in brilliant HD from the comfort of the ship’s lounge.
Life aboard National Geographic Orion is as welcoming as the Polynesian people, mirroring the languid pace of island life. Freely roam the accessible ship, including the bridge where you are welcome to watch the captain and officers navigate, and scan for birdlife and whales. Orion’s public spaces foster a convivial atmosphere. In the expansive window-lined lounge, the heart of the expedition community, enjoy the lively daily recap sessions and informative presentations. No assigned seating in the spacious dining room makes for easy mingling with fellow guests and the expedition staff. On deck, there are plenty of spaces to enjoy the balmy air and brilliant vistas by day or the romance of dining under stars at night.
TRAVEL WITH AN A+ EXPEDITION TEAM

Discover the South Pacific with a veteran expedition leader, an assistant expedition leader, and a team of four naturalists/cultural specialists well-versed in the region’s flora, fauna, and human history. Two divemasters and an underwater specialist will maximize your time in the incredible undersea, while a National Geographic photographer, a Lindblad-National Geographic certified photo instructor, and a video chronicler aboard will ensure you go home with amazing shots and a DVD that captures the story of your voyage. Plus, a wellness specialist helps enhance the relaxing and revitalizing benefits of life in the South Pacific.

JACOB EDGAR
An ethnomusicologist, Jacob is the founder of record label Cumbancha, and the main music researcher for the acclaimed world music compilations label, Putumayo World Music. He will be curating exclusive musical performances featuring top local artists, to enrich your Polynesian cultural experiences.
CAPTURE THE ADVENTURE—
TAKE GREAT PHOTOS

National Geographic Orion is the only expedition ship exploring the South Pacific with National Geographic photographers aboard. These photographers, many with significant careers to their credit, have inspired countless professional and amateur photographers, and one will accompany your voyage to motivate and assist you. He will be flanked by a Lindblad-National Geographic certified photo instructor, a naturalist trained by National Geographic photographers, to help you with your camera settings, the basics of composition, observation, and more to equip you with skills.

Now, every guest—from smartphone camera users to semi-pro shooters—can stand side-by-side with top photographers, pick up tips in the field, and take great photos. The South Pacific provides a photo op a minute and a once-in-a-lifetime experience to capture. So no worries, you’ll return home with your best photos ever, and a lifelong skill.
Venture to the heart of Polynesian culture and wildness on this highly immersive expedition where options abound. Choose to kayak, stand-up paddleboard, or take a bike ride for independent exploration and to connect with these people and islands on a personal level. Explore the historic ceremonial site, called a marae, on Raiatea where Polynesian seafarers would begin their bold expeditions sailing into the unknown. Cruise among the atolls of the Tuamotu Archipelago, a string of tiny islands in an azure sea that hides thriving reefs we’ll explore while scuba diving and snorkeling.

DAY 1: DEPART U.S.
Depart the U.S. on an overnight flight to Tahiti.

DAY 2: PAPÉETE, FRENCH POLYNESIA/ EMBARK
Arrive in Papeete, Tahiti early this morning, check into dayrooms, and take a brief tour of the island before embarking National Geographic Orion. (L,D)
DAY 3: BORA BORA, SOCIETY ISLANDS
Begin your voyage with a view of one of the South Pacific's most iconic images, the angular crags of Bora Bora's Mount Otemanu. Explore the island's interior by four-wheel drive for unparalleled views of the island's turquoise lagoon, then snorkel, dive, kayak, and stand-up paddleboard from one of the motus on the outer reef. (B,L,D)

DAY 4: RAIATEA/TAHAA
Encircled by a single fringing reef, and sharing a common lagoon, Raiatea and Tahaa are islands well worth exploring. One of the most important cultural sites in the Polynesian world, Marae Taputapuatea was a center for Polynesian seafarers and the location from which they set out for Rapa Nui (Easter Island), Hawaii, and New Zealand. Spend the morning exploring this site on Raiatea, then refresh yourself with a swim in warm turquoise seas. Watch from on deck as we navigate lagoon channels en route to Tahaa, then go ashore for a visit to a small, family-run vanilla plantation. (B,L,D)

DAY 5: HUAHINE
One of Polynesia’s best-kept secrets, Huahine is well off-the-beaten path. Once the home of Tahitian royalty, Huahine maintains the highest density of ancient marae in French Polynesia. Visit these sites with cultural experts and archaeologists who bring them to life. Venture into the lush interior of the island on a bicycle, then explore the verdant shoreline by kayak, stand-up paddleboard, or Zodiac. Finish the day with a swim in the island’s crystal-clear lagoon. (B,L,D)

DAYS 6 AND 7: TUAMOTU ARCHIPELAGO
Spend two days exploring some of the nearly 80 islands and atolls in the “Dangerous Archipelago.” Fakarava is one of the largest atolls in French Polynesia and part of a UNESCO Biosphere Reserve. Snorkel the protected reefs or ride the current into the lagoon on a world famous drift dive. An uplifted coral atoll, the island of Makatea is one of the most unique landforms in the Pacific. Spend the day exploring limestone caves and grottos with your expedition team and local guides, or search for endemic fruit doves and myriad seabirds, then snorkel and dive among clouds of colorful fish on the nearby reef. (B,L,D)

DAY 8: RANGIROA
The atoll of Rangiroa is a ring of slender islands known for some of the best diving and snorkeling in French Polynesia. The turquoise lagoon at its center is the second largest in the world. Your ship passes between the islets to anchor inside the lagoon near the village of Tiputa, where local musicians greet us. Visit the village, and kayak, snorkel, and scuba dive in the rich waters here, home to large schools of pelagic fish, manta rays, dolphins, sea turtles, and hammerheads. (B,L,D)

DAYS 9 AND 10: RANGIROA/DISEMBARK/PAPEETE/U.S.
Disembark this morning and take a short flight back to Papeete, where you’ll connect to your international overnight flight home. (DAY 9: B,L)
NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC ORION

CAPACITY: 102 guests in 53 outside cabins.
REGISTRY: Bahamas. OVERALL LENGTH: 338 feet.
The state-of-the-art National Geographic Orion (built in 2004) joined the Lindblad-National Geographic fleet in 2014. A fully stabilized, ice-class vessel with a steel reinforced forward hull, she is at home navigating polar ice as well as small harbors in the South Pacific.

PUBLIC AREAS: Outdoor café, lounge with bar, restaurant, sundeck, reception desk, observation lounge and library, global gallery, marina platform, and mudroom. The “open bridge” allows guests to meet the captain and officers and learn about navigation.

MEALS: All meals are served in a single seating with unassigned tables for an informal atmosphere and easy mingling. The cuisine is international with local flair, featuring tastes of the regions we explore.

CABINS: All cabins feature ocean views, private facilities, climate controls, and a flat-screen TV with DVD/CD player. Equipped with ethernet and wifi connections and USB ports for mobile devices. Some cabins have French balconies. Single cabins in Category 1 and Category 3 include #301, 322, 323, and 512.

EXPEDITION EQUIPMENT: Zodiac landing craft, a fleet of 24 double kayaks, stand-up paddleboards, glass-bottom Zodiac, splashcam, crow’s nest camera, hydrophone, underwater video camera, video microscope, and a Remotely Operated Vehicle (ROV). Plus, there is snorkeling gear for all guests, and scuba gear for 24 guests.

SPECIAL FEATURES: Laundry, a full-time doctor, National Geographic photographer, Lindblad-National Geographic certified photo instructor, two divemasters, undersea specialist and video chronicler.

WELLNESS: A wellness specialist, fitness center, LEXspa treatment room and sauna are on board.

Note: Scuba divers must be certified by an internationally recognized dive association prior to the voyage, and certification cards and logbooks must be shown on board. Divers must have logged 25 dives in total and made a dive within the 12 months preceding the voyage. If you have not made an open water dive within the past year, please contact us about a dive refresher course in Tahiti prior to your voyage.
The fitness center affords great views.

The elegant dining room, with no assigned seating.
