February 2009

ABOUT THE ALUMNI COUNCIL AWARD FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Alumni Council Award for Community Service annually recognizes outstanding contributions by groups of Princetonians in their efforts to address critical social, economic and environmental needs, throughout our society, and particularly in local communities. Award winning projects have a long term impact in serving the neediest areas, enjoy broad membership representation and community support, and managing projects that are replicable and effectively administered. In establishing this award, the Alumni Council seeks to underscore the importance of the variety of ways in which alumni contribute to the University, and to encourage more associations of Princetonians to serve their communities.
