
01. UNIVERSITY NEWS

Alumni Day honorees Kuczynski, Schmidt stress solutions for global challenges
The recipients of Princeton's top alumni awards underscored solutions for the political and technological challenges of today and the future at the University's annual Alumni Day on Saturday, Feb. 25. Pedro Pablo Kuczynski '61, president of Peru, spoke of a new age in Latin America, while Eric Schmidt '76, executive chairman of Google parent company Alphabet Inc., was positive about the power of technology to solve societal problems.

SIFP helps first-generation, low-income students thrive at Princeton Fifteen percent of Princeton freshmen are among the first in their families to attend college, and 21 percent are eligible for federal Pell grants for low-income students. Twelve years ago, 6 percent were first-generation and 7 percent were Pell-eligible. Launched in 2015, the Scholars Institute Fellows Program (SIFP) is among various University resources that empower undergraduates, particularly those from first-generation and low-income backgrounds, to succeed at Princeton.

Medical innovations, smart sensors and more impress judges at Innovation Forum
At this year's Innovation Forum at Princeton, graduate student Robert Pagels had three minutes to pitch his team's new method to cram several months' worth of medicine into a single injection.

Three Princeton seniors, one alumna win Gates Cambridge Scholarships; Senior wins Luce Scholarship
Princeton seniors Penina Krieger, Natasha Turkmani and Charlotte Williams, as well as Erica Cao '13, have been awarded Gates Cambridge Scholarships to pursue postgraduate study at the University of Cambridge. Princeton senior Monique Claiborne has been awarded a Luce Scholarship, which will allow her to spend the next year in Asia. She hopes to pursue an internship in the entertainment business in Seoul, South Korea.

Tiger Energy: Savraj Singh '03's entrepreneurial journey
In 2012, Princeton's Office of Sustainability began a partnership with Savraj Singh '03 to track and visualize the University's live energy usage. The collaboration with Singh's company, Wattvision, has since culminated in Tiger Energy, which breaks down campus energy supply and usage in colorful, easy-to-understand charts.
http://sustain.princeton.edu/news/tigerenergy-savrajsingh
Pilot programs build bridges, add diversity for promising scholars interested in graduate study
As part of Princeton’s ongoing efforts to increase diversity and inclusion, three academic departments have created pilot programs that build bridges between undergraduate coursework and doctoral programs for promising young scholars from underrepresented backgrounds.

02. ACADEMIC DIGEST

Schmidt Fund awards go to projects with transformative potential
Three projects with the potential for broad impacts in science and technology — a technology for improving ultrasound’s grainy images, a system for boosting biofuel production, and a facility for designing and testing new wind power technologies — have been selected to receive support from the Eric and Wendy Schmidt Transformative Technology Fund.

Q&A with Peter Singer: A philosopher on his craft and practicing it at Princeton Princeton’s Peter Singer, one of the world’s best known philosophers, answers questions about philosophy, teaching at Princeton and his latest book, "Ethics in the Real World."

Asian pollution, heat waves worsen U.S. smog
An influx of pollution from Asia in the western United States and more frequent heat waves in the eastern United States are responsible for the persistence of smog in these regions over the past quarter-century despite laws curtailing the emission of smog-forming chemicals from automobile tailpipes and factories, according to new research from Princeton and the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory.

Arts alumni connect in Los Angeles
On Feb. 2, more than 175 Princeton University alumni from the Southern California region working in the arts and creative professions gathered at Sony Pictures Studios Commissary in Culver City for the inaugural Lewis Center LA Party. The event was hosted by Lewis Center for the Arts Advisory Council member David E. Kelley ’79 along with alumni A. Scott Berg ’71, Padaic Duffy ’96, Winnie Holzman ’76, David Roussève ’81, Vanessa Schwartz ’86 and David Zabel ’88. Kelley, along with Lewis Center Chair Michael Cadden and Director of the Program in Visual Arts Joseph Scanlan, updated the crowd on the flourishing arts programs at the University.
http://arts.princeton.edu/news/2017/02/arts-alumni-los-angeles/

Princeton-Intel collaboration breaks new ground in studies of the brain
A collaboration between researchers at Princeton and Intel has enabled rapid progress on the ability to decode digital brain data, scanned using functional magnetic resonance imaging, to reveal how neural activity gives rise to learning, memory and other cognitive functions.
03. ALUMNI INTEREST

President Eisgruber to visit alumni around the world
This spring President Christopher L. Eisgruber '83 will be visiting alumni in London, Washington, D.C., and Detroit. All undergraduate and graduate alumni and parents are invited to hear Princeton's 20th president provide an update from campus and discuss priorities for Princeton's future. More information is available at: http://alumni.princeton.edu/calendar/president

Register now for Reunions 2017, June 1-4
Are you celebrating a major reunion this year? Be sure to register for Reunions 2017, scheduled for Thursday through Sunday, June 1-4. General Reunions information will be updated regularly on the Alumni Association's website. You can also visit your class or APGA site for more details. Registered TigerNet users may access the online directory's leadership search function to contact class officers or reunion chairs. Note that Tiger Camp's early bird pricing registration deadline is March 31.

Princeton to host '¡Adelante Tigres! Celebrating Latino Alumni at Princeton University,' March 30-April 1
Over 500 alumni and guests are already registered for this three-day campus event featuring a conversation with President Christopher L. Eisgruber '83; a plenary conversation between U.S. Supreme Court Justice Sonia Sotomayor '76 and University Trustee Margarita Rosa '74; plenary addresses by Eduardo Bhatia '86, Nellie Gorbea '88, José Quiñonez *98 and Anthony Romero '87; a plenary panel on the undocumented experience; discussions with fellow alumni, senior administrators and faculty; informal gatherings with current students; and numerous networking and social opportunities. Activities also include specialized tours, a dance workshop, a performing arts showcase and a "Final Fiesta" to close out the weekend's events. View the full schedule of events, see who has registered and register for this complimentary event at: http://alumni.princeton.edu/adelante

Relive the Alumni Day experience
For those who missed Alumni Day 2017 or just want to relive the experience, you can do so in a number of ways. Video recordings of talks delivered, including the Madison Medal lecture by Pedro Pablo Kuczynski *61 and the Woodrow Wilson Award lecture by Eric Schmidt '76, and remarks given at the awards luncheon, are now available on the Alumni Association's website. The site also features vibrant photo galleries of the day's events through a link to Facebook. http://alumni.princeton.edu/goinback/alumniday/2017
Discover prehistoric caves and premier wines in southwest France in September
Princeton Journeys invites you to discover the anthropological treasures and culinary delights of southwest France, from Bordeaux to Toulouse, alongside Professor of Anthropology, Emeritus, Alan Mann and your fellow Princetonians, Aug. 30-Sept. 10. Sip world-class vintages, dine in hilltop castles, discover the fascinating history of cliff-clinging villages, forage for truffles and dive into ancient human history at the sites of some of the oldest known art in the world. To save your space on this exclusive program, call the Princeton Journeys team today at 609-258-8686. For more information and program brochures, visit the Princeton Journeys website: http://alumni.princeton.edu/journeys/

Make your vote count
The 2017 election for alumni trustees to Princeton’s Board of Trustees is coming up, once again giving alumni an important voice in the governance of the University. Look for an email in mid-April with a link to the alumni trustee election website. For more information on the election and the Committee to Nominate Alumni Trustees, go to: http://alumni.princeton.edu/volunteer/committees/ctnat/trustee/

From the PAW: The Trump era — Reflections
Faculty members and alumni interpret the election of the new president: Nell Irvin Painter on the politics of race and class, Jan-Werner Müller on Trump and populism, Tom Bevan ’91 on polling, Kathleen McCleery ’75 on Trump and the media, and Dan-el Padilla Peralta ’06 on immigration.
http://paw.princeton.edu/article/trump-era-reflections

04. GIFTS TO PRINCETON

Annual Giving recognizes volunteer achievements
On Friday, Feb. 24, at the traditional Annual Giving dinner prior to Alumni Day, more than 145 Annual Giving volunteers gathered at the mid-point of the 2016-17 campaign. Annual Giving Chair Louise S. Sams ’79 presented several distinguished achievement awards to the leaders of last year’s campaign.

Video: Share your #PrincetonMagic
As Annual Giving celebrates the magic of Princeton this March, we conjured up a few treasured Tiger moments in this short video. We hope they will inspire you to share your Princeton memories in the #PrincetonMagic photo gallery! Post your photos to Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram with a caption and be sure to add #PrincetonMagic or #AGTigers.
http://giving.princeton.edu/video/share-your-princetonmagic
05. MULTIMEDIA FEATURES

Video: Naoum Fares Marayati, student in the service of humanity
Sophomore Naoum Fares Marayati is making as much of his Princeton experience as he can. When the psychology major is not studying or in the lab, you may find him guiding a tour in the Princeton University Art Museum, tutoring at the McGraw Center for Teaching and Learning, singing with the Umqombothi a cappella group or hosting a study break at Forbes College, his favorite community on campus.

Video: 'International Eye': Learning through the camera lens
For the ninth year, the International Eye Photo Contest has provided an opportunity for students to share their experiences studying, working, doing service or conducting research abroad.

Video: Stanley's new sounds
Senior Stanley Mathabane was an accomplished jazz musician in high school. At Princeton, he decided to concentrate in psychology and earn a certificate in theater. Then Tony Award-winning professor Rob Kaplowitz turned him on to sound design, and now Mathabane has combined his background in music with his love of theater to create a new score for his future. See his story:

06. EXHIBITS & EVENTS

'Can Liberty Survive the Digital Age?'
Princeton alumni and members of the public in Berlin and the surrounding region are encouraged to attend the Princeton-Fung Global Forum on Monday and Tuesday, March 20-21. In a world filled with cyber hacks, communication silos, fake news and government surveillance, can liberty really survive the digital age? Or will the power of the internet, once thought to be a boon for democracy, actually be its undoing? Keynote addresses will feature Google's Vint Cerf and Microsoft's Brad Smith '81.
fungforum.princeton.edu

Dance seniors present '(Syn)thesis'
Seniors in the Program in Dance present "(Syn)thesis," a concert of new choreography they have created and performances of repertory works by master choreographers. Featuring senior dancers Emily Avery, Erin Berl, Dana Fesjian, Naomi Lake, Tiffany Miller, Alex Quetell, Paige Shaw, Clare Sherlog, Lauren Wodarski and Crystal Yao, performances are at 8 p.m. Friday, March 31, and at 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday, April 1, in the Berlind Theatre at McCarter Theatre Center.
http://arts.princeton.edu/events/synthesis-senior-dance-concert/2017-03-31/
Museum hosts first major exhibition on the 'Berlin Painter' and Athenian vase-painting
"The Berlin Painter and His World: Athenian Vase-Painting in the Early Fifth Century B.C." will be on view through June 11 at Princeton University Art Museum. It is the first major museum exhibition devoted to "The Berlin Painter," the name given by Oxford scholar Sir John Beazley to an anonymous fifth-century B.C. Athenian vase-painter, whose hand Beazley recognized in over 200 complete or fragmentary vases in collections around the world. An international symposium on Athenian vase-painting of the Late Archaic and Early Classical periods will take place form 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, April 1, in McCormick Hall, Room 101.
http://artmuseum.princeton.edu/art/exhibitions/1656

Behavioral Policy Speaker Series considers applied research in a variety of contexts
The Kahneman-Treisman Center for Behavioral Science and Public Policy announces its spring Behavioral Policy Speaker Series. On Thursday, April 6, Anuj Shah *10 from Chicago Booth Business School discusses the challenges of applying psychological research to poverty, violence and policing; Thursday, April 27, Hannah Riley Bowles from Harvard Kennedy School reconceptualizes gender and careers based on empirical work; and Thursday, May 4, Cecilia Mo from Vanderbilt University discusses results from a study that examined Teach for America, and how the advantaged see the disadvantages of others. Lectures, free and open to the public, begin at 4:30 p.m. More information can be found at http://behavioralpolicy.princeton.edu/events

07. SPORTS UPDATES

Men's basketball to face Notre Dame in NCAA West Regional Winners of 19 in a row, the Princeton men's basketball team earned a No. 12 seed in the West Regional of the NCAA Tournament and will head to Buffalo, New York, to face fifth-seeded Notre Dame. The game will take place at 12:15 p.m. EDT Thursday, March 16, at Buffalo's KeyBank Center and will air on CBS. It's Princeton's 25th NCAA Tournament and first since 2011 as the Tigers went 14-0 during the Ivy League regular season and swept through the two-round inaugural Ivy League Tournament, beating Yale 71-59 in the final Sunday, March 12.

Harris and Kelly capture Top-10 finishes at NCAA Indoor Track & Field Championships
Princeton's two competitors at the 2017 NCAA Indoor National Championships had successful days as senior Allison Harris was ninth in the pole vault while sophomore Adam Kelly was 10th in the weight throw. Each earned Second-Team All-America honors.
Hompe scores 200th point as No. 9 Princeton women’s lacrosse takes down No. 8 Notre Dame 14-8
Senior Olivia Hompe tallied her 200th career point in a five-point game to lead No. 9 Princeton to a huge 14-8 win over No. 8 Notre Dame. Princeton is off to a 5-0 start, its best start since the 2008 season when the Tigers began the year 10-0. Though Hompe had a 39-game goal scoring streak come to a close against Brown, she kept her 59-game point scoring streak alive — having only been shut out in her first career game in 2014.

Dudey, Liu win NCAA regional fencing titles
Junior foil Thomas Dudey and sophomore épée Charlene Liu won weapon titles at the Saturday, March 11, NCAA Mid-Atlantic/South fencing regional at Lafayette in the teams’ last event before the NCAA Championships March 23-26 in Indianapolis. The title is Dudey’s second, along with his win in 2015, and Liu’s first. Liu’s win led a top-three Tiger sweep in women’s épée with seniors Anna Van Brummen and Katharine Holmes right behind.

Kolodzik (4), Laster (16) earn seeds at NCAA Wrestling Championships
Freshman Matthew Kolodzik became the fifth wrestler in Princeton history to earn a Top-4 seeding at the NCAA Championships, while senior Jordan Laster earned his first seed in three trips to the national championships, both of which were announced Wednesday night when the NCAA Championships brackets were announced. Kolodzik joins Warren Taylor ’43, Bradley Glass ’53, John Orr ’85 and Greg Parker ’03 as the only Tigers to be seeded in the top four of their respective weight classes. The reigning EIWA champion at 141 pounds, Kolodzik will bring a 26-2 record into his first-round match with Maryland’s Ryan Diehl.

08. PRINCETON WEB CONNECT
Princeton University - http://www.princeton.edu
Office of Alumni Affairs - http://alumni.princeton.edu
TigerNet Services – http://alumni.princeton.edu/tigernet/
Class pages - http://alumni.princeton.edu/communities/classes/
Graduate alumni page- http://alumni.princeton.edu/communities/graduate/
Giving to Princeton - http://giving.princeton.edu/
Public events calendar - http://calendar.princeton.edu
Princeton Social Media: http://socialmedia.princeton.edu
09. ABOUT TIGER E-NEWS

We want to hear from you. Please send comments and questions to tigerene@princeton.edu. To change personal data, log in to TigerNet at http://alumni.princeton.edu.

Technical Note: Because various email programs handle links differently, broken links sometimes occur. If this happens, you may need to copy and paste both parts of the URL (address) into your Web browser.