

Index to 2018 Pre-Read Assembly Highlight Video

(0:04-6:50) Opening by President Eisgruber

(06:50-19:10) Presentation by author Keith Whittington

(19:10-30:12) Comments of Princeton professor Faramerz Dabhoiwala (History)

(30:12-41:36) Comments of Princeton professor Carolyn Rouse (Chair, Anthropology)

(41:36-44:56) Freshman Q&A #1: How can I be assured my constitutional rights to free speech will be protected, in face of the views of professors and others?

(44:56-48:22) Freshman Q&A #3: Is there an intrinsic freedom to choose what kind of speech to listen to, and are trigger warnings helpful in that?

(48:22-51:36) Freshman Q&A #5: Ideas and power, and audience, and invitees.

(51:36-54:51) Freshman Q&A #6: How would you redesign the First Amendment?

(54:51-59:53) Freshman Q&A #8: (A student polls the class to raise hands on whether they see themselves as politically right, moderate, or left.) How does the university shape the class? How do political views matter?

Total highlight video time: 59:58