COLONEL (RET) KEVIN J. WEDDLE *03 is a Distinguished Fellow and military historian at the US Army War College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania. He is a graduate of the US Military Academy, is a veteran of Operations Desert Storm and Enduring Freedom, commanded a combat engineer battalion, and served over 28 years on active duty in the US Army. At Princeton he studied with one of the nation's greatest Civil War historians, Professor James McPherson. Dr. Weddle leads military and civilian groups to battlefields around the world including Normandy, the Rhine, Sicily, Anzio, Gallipoli, Gettysburg, Antietam, and many others. He served as the William L. Garwood Visiting Professor at Princeton in 2019. In addition to being an accomplished lecturer and tour leader, he is an award-winning author of books and articles, including The Compleat Victory: Saratoga and the American Revolution (Oxford University Press), winner of six national and international literary awards including the Gilder Lehrman Military History Prize and the Society of the Cincinnati Prize.

Special Guest Lecturer

DORIS KEARNS GOODWIN is a world-renowned presidential historian, public speaker, Pulitzer Prize-winning and #1 New York Times best-selling author, and a partner in Pastimes Productions. Goodwin is often called upon by the news media, late-night TV hosts, and hundreds of companies, educational institutions, government agencies, and nonprofits to share her vast knowledge of leadership and provide historical context for current-day events.

Her eighth book, An Unfinished Love Story: A Personal History of the 1960s, was published in Spring 2024 and became an instant #1 New York Times bestseller. Artfully weaving together biography, memoir, and history, this new book takes readers on the emotional journey Doris and her husband, Richard (Dick) Goodwin, embarked upon in the last years of his life as they delved into more than 300 boxes of letters, diaries, documents, and memorabilia that Dick had saved for more than fifty years. The Goodwins quickly realized they had before them an unparalleled personal time capsule of the 1960s — the events and pivotal figures of the decade: John Kennedy, Jacqueline Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr., Robert Kennedy, Eugene McCarthy, and especially Lyndon Johnson, who greatly impacted both their lives.

Goodwin previously authored six critically acclaimed and New York Times bestselling books, including the Carnegie Medal-winner, The Bully Pulpit: Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, and the Golden Age of Journalism and Team of Rivals: The Political Genius of Abraham Lincoln. Team of Rivals is often cited as an inspiration for business and political leaders, including President Barack Obama, and was awarded the prestigious Lincoln Prize, the inaugural Book Prize for American History, and Goodwin in 2016 was the first historian to receive the Lincoln Leadership Prize from the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library Foundation. Goodwin was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in History for No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt.

Doris Kearns Goodwin has served as a consultant and has been interviewed extensively for PBS and the HISTORY Channel's documentaries on Presidents Johnson, both Roosevelts and Lincoln, the Kennedy family, and for Ken Burns' "The History of Baseball" and "The Roosevelts." Goodwin has received numerous awards for her books and career, including the inaugural American History Book Prize from the New-York Historical Society, the Gold Medal for biography from the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and most recently the Washington Irving Medal for Literary Excellence from the Saint Nicholas Society of the City of New York for An Unfinished Love Story. Goodwin graduated magna cum laude from Colby College and was invited to deliver the commencement address there in 2024. She earned a Doctor of Philosophy degree in Government from Harvard University, where she taught Government, including a course on the American Presidency.
